Trackage Deal of C. & O. and B. & O.

President Willard Says He Did Not "Slip Up" on the C. & O. in the Deal.

The Cincinnati Enquirer says: President Daniel Willard, of the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern and the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton roads, and party arrived in the city yesterday.

Mr. Willard was asked about the trackage deal that the Baltimore and Ohio has with the Chesapeake and Ohio into the Eastern Kentucky tract of coal land owned by the Consolidation Coal Company, on which the town of Jenkins is being built.

Mr. Willard stated that, contrary to general opinion, the Baltimore and Ohio did not "put one over" on the Chesapeake and Ohio in the trackage deal, as President Stevens and other C. & O. officials were made acquainted with the plans of the Baltimore and Ohio before the deal was suggested and agreed without hesitation to grant the trackage privileges to the Baltimore and Ohio, with which it maintains friendly relations.

"The Consolidation Coal Company has many of its selling agents located along the line of the Baltimore and Ohio," explained Mr. Willard, in talking about the trackage agreement in Eastern Kentucky. "They depend upon the B. & O. for dock privileges and cars, and wanted us to handle the coal from this particular field. There was no fight of any kind for the trackage rights, as everything was settled without any hitch of any kind."

"Most of this coal will not come through Cincinnati, will it?" was asked.

"I expect that most of it will come less than Cincinnati, as the Chesapeake and Ohio will bring it to the Ohio River and on to Cincinnati, as most of the coal will be destined for Western points. Of course, some of the coal will be sent directly North through Ohio to the Great Lakes but it is the present plan to move the majority of it through Cincinnati."

From Cincinnati the C. & O. and D. will get the haul as it will be hauled to the Northwest through Toledo. When the lake coal season ends about the middle of November or sooner, the coal will be sent to the Northwest by the all-rail route.

KILLED IN CARTER COUNTY.

Grayson, Ky., October 27.—Lincoln Blinn, a farmer, was instantly killed while assisting Matthew Soller, of Baltimore, Md., aviator who was in the act of starting on a journey from his summer home in this county, in a flying machine invented by himself. Soller had prepared for a long time, and had his machine anchored to a stump. After starting the engine, he asked Blinn to loosen the rope, and as he did so the blade of the propeller struck him on the top of the head, killing him instantly.

JUDGE O'REAR'S SPECIAL.

Judge O'Rear swept through the Big Sandy Valley Monday and Tuesday on a special train, speaking at almost every station. His largest crowd was at Pikeville, where 500 gathered at the court house. The stands erected in the court house for taking care of the expected overflow, were not needed or used. The trip was a disappointment.

If the reception accorded to Judge O'Rear when his "wblirlwind" special reached this place Tuesday afternoon is a gauge of the result of a week later will be disastrous to the candidate bearing his name. The public school had just been dismissed, and the children, attracted by a big brass band, constituted fully three-fourths of Judge O'Rear's crowd. Ladies were there in considerable numbers, there were many Democrats also, and there's the "vast assemblage" which turned out to see the "next Governor."

Not a shout, not a cheer. The silence was so thick you could hang your hat on it. People from the country were notable by their absence. At the court house Judge O'Rear was introduced by Mr. R. C. McClure and made a speech of about 35 minutes. He spoke along the lines now so familiar to the reading public, and which have been so torn and riddled by Democratic speakers that there is nothing left of them but shreds.

BIG LAND DEALS.

Immense Area of Coal Lands Bought in Eastern Kentucky.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 31.—The incorporation of the Cumbaria Coal & Lumber Company in the Fayette county court yesterday marks one of the steps being taken by a number of Pennsylvania capitalists toward acquiring an immense area of coal and timber lands in the mountains of Eastern Kentucky. With the incorporation of four companies of which the Cumbaria is one, these capitalists have acquired 140,000 acres, and as individuals hold 15,000 acres additional. The capitalization of the four companies, and the approximate value of the 175,000 acres of lands which they control, is about $1,500,000. These lands embrace rich coal, mineral oil and timber territory in Magoffin, Knott, Perry and Floyd counties, as follows:

Kentucky Land & Improvement Company, 40,000 acres; Cumbaria Coal & Lumber Company, 67,000 acres; Knott County Coal & Lumber Company 23,000 acres; B. F. Price Coal & Lumber Company, 10,000 acres; individual holdings of the members of these companies, 35,000 acres.

ONE WENT, ONE REMAINED.

Just about dark last Saturday afternoon two of the inmates of the State House mixed it up with their host, the general Al, and one of them is roving fresh fields and pastures new. The other remains in the State House, viler than ever because of his unsuccessful break for liberty. Al, unsuspiciously entered the door into the day walk with the supper for his boarders, and as he did so Mack Douglas and Mont or Mart Moseley made the supreme effort of their lives in an attempt to regain their liberty. One pushed the heavy iron door against Al, while the other hit him a jolt with a shovel. Al grabbed one, Moseley, and held him but Mack made good his escape and has not yet phoned his address to his former landlord. He had a penitentiary residence staring him in the face for bigamy, and the fear of his wings to his feet. Moseley had gone to Ohio to avoid a big lot of fines. He had been released on bond and his headman had him brought back.

The street brigade has been doing some excellent work recently, and our thoroughfares look much better. The spirit of improvement is abroad and the city feels the good of the work which is being done. If the improvement committee of the city council will take a view of the town after a hard down pour of rain it would see where much more good might be done.

RECEPTION AND DINNER.

On Friday last the Hon. Champ Clark, Speaker of the House of Representatives, was in Huntington, W. Va., where he went to visit once more the institution of which years ago, he was President, old Marshall College. He was received in royal fashion, both at the depot and at the college. After the greeting at the depot Mr. Clark was escorted through the streets to the college by a large party, of the most representative men of Huntington and by a large body of students.

At Marshall College Mr. Clark was once again brought to the surroundings of his former stay in Huntington, nearly four decades ago when he was principal of the institution, then in its infancy. An informal reception was held in the college parlors, after which the party motored to Westmoreland, where they were the guests of Congressman and Mrs. James A. Hughes at dinner.

FIGHT IN GREENUP COUNTY.

Lexington, Ky., October 31.—One man was killed, another seriously wounded and a third slightly hurt as the result of a general fight at a country school entertainment in Greenup county, according to news received here today.

Following an argument Reuben Potters and John Green fought a duel with knives, Green, who is a cripple, fell badly wounded, while Potters was slightly injured.

Charles Markin went to the assistance of Green, when Potters drew a revolver and shot Markin, killing him instantly.

Potters made his escape to the mountains.

DOINGS IN OIL FIELD.

The Hayes Oil Company's well will be completed the first of next week. A slight delay was caused Wednesday by a break in the stem. The casing was put in to the well Monday, the depth being something near 100 feet.

The Guyan Company well and the Prince well will be completed next week, unless some unexpected delay should occur.

The Square Deal company has started its well southwest of Busseyville.

Chris Lawrence is starting two wells on the Busseyville leases.

Mr. Cameron will begin a well on the Sturgill farm near Irad within thirty days.

"UNCLE ANSE" WHITE SHIRT.

Jackson, Ky., Oct. 30.—"Uncle Anse" White, noted feud leader of Breathitt county, was accidentally shot and probably fatally wounded at his home ten miles from here today. The shooting was done by his nephew, a boy named Hensen. White is a brother of Tom White now serving a life sentence for the murder of J. B. Marrens.

DIED IN WASHINGTON.

Miss Emma McHenry, a Native of Louisa, Passed Away.

Miss Mary McCall received a letter this morning from relatives at Kalama, Wash., telling of the illness and death of her cousin, Miss Emma McHenry. Miss McHenry was 61 but a month and although the best of medical attention was given her, the physicians were unable to discover the cause of her illness and on the morning of the 19th of October, she died, leaving a mother, brother and sister, besides a host of other relatives and friends. It is the belief of her family that she died from grief, caused by the death of another sister, Mrs. Morris McClure, of Huntington, which occurred about two years ago, and to whom she was devotedly devoted. The McHenry family was formerly of Louisa and have a large number of friends in the Sandy Valley, and in this city, where they also resided. Miss Emma was at one time an employee of The Tribune, and a bright and lovable girl. The Tribune joins the friends in extending sympathy to the bereaved mother and family.—Cattletown Tribune.

HOW IT HAPPENED

Story of Railroad Race to the Big Sandy Fields.

Further Information as to the Manner in Which the Deals Were Brought About.

There is no subject of more interest just now to Eastern Kentucky than that of railroads. The following from the Cincinnati Enquirer contains some interesting information:

The "inside" story of the fight now being waged by the Chesapeake and Ohio, the Louisville and Nashville and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroads for the coal traffic from the mines in Eastern Kentucky was revealed to Cincinnati railroad men yesterday. Incidentally it shows that a national bank of this city played a prominent part in the deal by which the Chesapeake and Ohio spent $3,500,000 in "bottling up" the coal traffic. Louisville bankers were first sounded on their views of the situation, but professed to know little or nothing about the possibilities of the virgin coal fields in the eastern part of the state. One of the officers of the Cincinnati bank was thoroughly familiar with the new coal field and its possibilities, and the Chesapeake and Ohio found the bank officials willing to lend an ear to their pleadings. This was the main reason why the Chesapeake and Ohio has made Cincinnati instead of Louisville the principal gateway, in connection with the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton, for its coal traffic destined for the great lakes and points in the Northwest.

Just when the Chesapeake and Ohio felt secure regarding the coal traffic, President H. M. Smith of the Louisville and Nashville, began to take notice of the Kentucky coal fields. He went to the operators, and on their promise that the Louisville and Nashville would secure annual shipments of at least 1,000,000 tons of coal, he swung the deal that brought the Lexington & Eastern under L. and N. control, and started work. The extension of the L. and N. to Jackson, Breathitt county, gave coal fields. When the extension is completed the Louisville and Nashville will haul this coal to Louisville, from which point it will be distributed.

Last fall President Stevens of the Chesapeake and Ohio, took William Cotter, then President of the C. H. and D., and President Daniel Willard, of the Baltimore and Ohio system, to the Kentucky coal fields. It was given out at the time that they "wanted to look at the scenery," but on the trip President Willard was impressed with the possibility of the new field. The result was that the C. and O. threatened to parallel the C. and O. into the coal fields unless the C. and O. give it trackage rights on equal terms, thus making three carriers that are seeking to get the majority of the coal traffic. The B. and O. is building a road from Shelby, Ky., to the Ohio river, where it will have direct connections with its own tracks.

The C. and O. protested to the coal operators when they promised traffic to the other roads, but found that it was useless to try and stop the deals that had been made. The Louisville and Nashville will spend about $3,500,000 to get into the field. It is a strange happening that three roads building from three different points of the compass will send their extensions within a radius of about 10 miles.

The Carolina, Clinchfield and Ohio is also in the same field, but separated from the other roads by a range of mountains, through which it will penetrate about 40 miles to reach the C. and O. It now looks like the proposed deal between the "Clinchfield Route" and the C. and O. and Seaboard Air Line, which is at present high in the air, will be swung within the Cincinnati Enquirer.

A BIRTHDAY DINNER.

Miss Minnie Calnes, of Potter, celebrated a birthday anniversary on Sunday last by giving an elegant dinner to a few of her friends. She was the pleased recipient of many presents to be treasured as souvenirs of a very delightful occasion. Miss Calnes' guests were Misses Lou and Marie Gearheart, Gracey Burke, Nina McLeary, Mary Frances Chaffin, Louisa; Bessie Waller, Fort Gay; Herma Blevins, Richardson; Lorena Layne, Ashland; Lizzie Thompson, Horsford; Beatrice Maxine Edwards, Sistersville, W. Va.; Len Saulsberry, Potter; and Wm. Cala, Jr. and Brad. Chaffin, Louisa.

A TWO YEARS' SURVEY.

Two corps of engineers, eighteen men in all, left Huntington on Monday morning in order to begin the preliminary surveys in the Kentucky holdings recently acquired by the Island Creek Fuel Company.

They will begin a task that is estimated with require two years to complete, the total area being about twenty-five thousand acres, located on Blackberry creek, in Pike county, just across the river from this city and near Matewan, this county. When this property is developed it is bound to do great good to this city and its surroundings.

CRIM ECHO.

Sale of Property of Pratt and Jarrell, Who Were Murdered.

It was a grim echo of the cold-blooded murder of M. F. Pratt and the body of Jarrell down the embankment from a freight train on the Norfolk and Western in Mingo county, late in August, when Joint Administrator Alexander Porter, of their estates, tacked up legal notices of the sale of 2 yoke of oxen and a cart hook, which made up the personal property of the men at Leet, Wednesday. Pratt and Jarrell logged in the camp, of William Pratt and Son, four miles from Leet. The sale took place on October 31.

One summer afternoon two months ago Pratt and Jarrell drew what money was due them and started over the mountains for a railroad. Neither had large sums of money. They were going to their homes in Wayne county, where both were awaited by families.

Thinking to save a little money, at Kenova, the men boarded a freight train on the Norfolk and Western railroad. This is the last time they were seen alive so far as the authorities can ascertain. A few hours later Pratt was picked up between the tracks near Nangiatank and fifty yards further up the line was found the body of Jarrell down the embankment, at the side of the road. Pratt was shot through half a dozen times, while four bullets had riddled the body of Jarrell. The former appeared to have been literally dumped from the rear car. The body was huddled on the track, the head down in a heap. Jarrell was evidently kicked from the side door of a freight car. Their pockets were turned inside out.

The Marguerite Smith Company.

Our people should not forget that this, the first attraction of the entertainment course, will be presented Friday evening, Nov. 10. A Kentucky amusement manager thus writes of it: Last night I had the privilege of hearing the Marguerite Smith Company. During the five years that I have been connected with Lyceum work I have never heard their equal.

Tickets and reserved seats will be on sale at Conley's next Monday.

HALLOWEEN MASQUERADE.

On Tuesday night last Miss Jeanne McClure gave a party at the hotel Savoy in honor of her guest, Miss Jeannette Hayes, of Aurora, Ind. Some ten or twelve couples, all masquerade, attended and greatly enjoyed the fun and the refreshments, delicious in quality and abundant in quantity.

HATFIELD FAMILY REFORMED

The following from the Cincinnati Enquirer is from Huntington, and that is sufficient to warn those familiar with the work of the artist who reads out items from that place. It may not be true:

Huntington, W. Va., Oct. 23.—Standing over the blers of their two brothers, Elias and Troy Hatfield, who were shot and killed by an Italian in Fayette County a few days ago, 11 stalwart sons of "Devil Anse" Hatfield, noted feud leader, who recently professed religion, responded to the pleadings of their aged parent, embraced religion and pledged themselves to lead better lives.

Every member of the noted feud family was at home to attend the double funeral. Troy and Elias Hatfield, the victims of the Italian, were two of 13 brothers. Every one of these boys was trained in his youth to be prepared to bring about, if necessary, the extermination of the McCoy clan.

The bodies of Troy and Elias Hatfield were taken back to their old home in Logan county for burial and "Uncle Dyke" Garrett, the veteran mountain preacher, who "led Devil Anse" to the monasteries heath was summoned to conduct the double funeral.

When they saw their brothers cold in death and heard the final benedictions pronounced over them, sorrow filled the hearts of the surviving brothers and they together went forward and made a public confession of faith in the God of their mother and, more recently, of their father as well. The mother of the 11 converts has long been a member of the church.

Among the brothers were "Caj" who in the days of the feuds, was the possessor of a name feared through all the mountains, Bob, John, Dr. Ellis, Tennis, Johnson, Floyd and Boe.

"Uncle Dyke" is to baptize the Hatfield boys in the near future. A special day is to be set for the baptism.

ARRESTED ON REQUISITION.

Governor Glasscock has made requisition upon Governor Augustus E. Wilson, of Kentucky, for the extradition of Virginia Sexton, under arrest in that state charged with the burning of the home of H. C. Harvey, of Huntington.

Concerning this matter a Louisville paper of recent date had the following:

An officer from Huntington, W. Va., arrived in Louisville today to take back to Huntington Mrs. Virgil Thorp, who was arrested in the city last week on a charge of being a fugitive from Huntington. The Huntington officer told the police this afternoon that he had seen Mrs. Thorp and that she had expressed her willingness to return to Huntington with him. She is wanted on a charge of setting fire to a dwelling.

MORE RAILROAD.

The Clinchfield to Build Through the Breaks of Sandy.

It has been learned that the Carolina, Clinchfield and Ohio Railway company is preparing to build the long-projected extension north from Dante, Va., to connect at Elkhorn, Ky., with the Chesapeake and Ohio. The building company, which will be called the Clinchfield Northern Railway, of Kentucky, has been chartered under the laws of Kentucky with a capital stock of $5,000. The name of J. C. Stone, Treasurer of the Carolina, Clinchfield and Ohio, heads the lists of incorporators.

This sudden activity on the part of the Clinchfield is taken as an indication that the long-deferred deal between the Clinchfield and the C. and O. and Seaboard Air Line is about to be closed after hauling fire for over six months.

Fred, Arn, the original of this headline, appeared in black face sketches at Eldorado this week. At his last appearance his programme was enriched by songs and dances by a well known local amateur.

POLITICAL MATTERS.

Interesting Reading About the Kentucky Campaign.

To listen to the republican speakers, one would think the republican party in Kentucky had originated the common school system, and were the only people that could be trusted to bring it to perfection. As every friend of education in the State, there is no law on the Statute book in regard to education that was not put there by Democratic Legislators and while Kentucky has not made the advancement in this respect that it should have done, great progress is being made, and with the election of Governor McCreary, further improvement is sure to follow. The fact that we have better teachers who are paid better salaries, and that there are more schools in Kentucky than ever before, is all due to the re-organization of the public school system under the school board. This act was passed in 1904 by a Democratic Legislature, and was drawn by Mr. J. J. Sullivan, who is Governor McCreary's close personal friend, a member of his campaign committee. The Democratic party can be trusted to build upon this admirable foundation a noble superstructure that will place Kentucky, where it belongs among the greatest educational States in the Union.

The best that O'Rear can do is to promise that if a Democratic Legislature does not follow his instructions, he will keep them in session at an expense of over $100,000 a day. Governor McCreary will be able to enact into law every plank in his platform, because his party will be in control of both houses and will not dare to violate the promises so sacredly made.

When you were looking over your tax polls for this year, don't forget that the increase is due to republican administration at Frankfort, which has received O'Rear's hearty endorsement. The increase in the value of farm lands for assessment purposes in the last two years alone, has been over ninety-two million dollars. When Judge O'Rear was asked if he approved what the State Board of Equalization had done in placing this burden upon the shoulders of the farmers, he answered that they had done their duty under the law, and he endorsed their acts.

Senator Bradley has given Lillard, the holding Democrat who help elect him, a certificate of character, besides providing him with a $1200 office for four years. At Danville, where Lillard was indicted forty-five times by the grand jury for selling liquor in local-option territory, they do not share Bradley's high estimate. The only recent tribute paid Lillard in that community, was to hang him in effigy.

Governor Willson has spent three hundred days out of the State during his term of office. all the time drawing his full salary, the Lieutenant Governor also being paid for doing his work. This does not include one hundred days more the Governor has spent in Louisville attending to his law practice, and ministering to his pleasure. Why take any more chances along that line? Judge O'Rear's platform approves every act of Willson's administration, and it logically follows that he endorses the Governor's joy-riding all over the country at the expense of the State.

It was a Democratic Legislature that passed the law giving the public schools of Kentucky 26 1-2 per cent. of the State levy instead of 22 cents, as it has formerly been. This accounts chiefly for the increase in salaries of teachers in Kentucky.

A vote under the rooster will be a vote for Henry Bosworth, that was a vote for the heavy vote of the mountain section of Kentucky.

There is only one danger that the Democrats face, and that is overconfidence. To make Democratic success certain, it is absolutely necessary that the vote should be gotten out. Every County Chairman and every Precinct Committeeman is giving his personal time to this important work, and they should be aided by the individual Democrats. Take your neighbor to polls with you, and there will be no doubt that the Democrats will win a glorious victory. If only five Democrats in every precinct in the State remain away from the polls it will mean a difference of over 10 thousand votes. Republicans are active and determined, and are making desperate efforts to poll every vote. Vote early, and urge all your friends to do likewise.

Judge O'Rear accuses the Democrats of "waving the bloody shirt" because they have asked him if he approves Governor Willson's pardon of the murderers of Governor Goebel. Caleb Powers and Finley he cannot well condemn the pardon on the stump for O'Rear, and he cannot well condemn the pardons granted them by Governor Willson, for fear they will turn against him. It is all right for the Republicans to appeal to the Finley for their votes, but it is all wrong for the Democrats, who all wrong for the Democrats, who mourn the assassination of Governor Goebel, to call attention to the significant fact.

Governor McCreary is closing the most remarkable Campaign in his long public career. He has not given his Republican opponent a moment's rest, but has mercilessly arraigned him and his party until they have been on the defense from the very beginning. Governor McCreary will end this contest in full mental and bodily vigor, and will give the State such a progressive administration that the Democracy will not be out of power again in twenty years.

On a Rampage.

The further Judge O'Rear goes the worse he gets. He has put his foot into his mouth so often during the campaign that the wonder is he has any teeth left. His latest break was in a speech at Middlesboro where he stated that Percy Halsey had been brought before a grand jury, tried and convicted of publishing a libel on Noel Gaines. No such thing ever occurred, and the Lexington Leader, Louisville Herald and other republican papers are busy making corrections to keep from being sued for libel. Judge O'Rear, with sure defeat staring him in the face, has gone wild and newspapers that report his speeches are taking a big chance.

There is no doubt that Ex-Senator Jack Oliver, who is the Republican Candidate for Secretary of State, feels just as bitter as Judge road passes. He is a great friend of the Constitution—sleeps with it under his pillow at night, and grieves when its provisions are neglected by the Legislature. In the meantime, Senator Jack, hitherto travels all over the State on railroad passes, and as he has made many trips with Judge O'Rear, that distinguished jurist must have personal information on the subject. Why does not Judge O'Rear begin his reforms at home, and convince the members of his own family, and his fellow candidates, that they should not engage in the discreditable practice of riding on railroad passes?

The burden of Judge O'Rear's song continues to be the "corrupt lobby." Early in the Campaign, he promised to single these men out, and name them so that the voters would know who had been bribing Legislators all these years. So far, however, he has not given a single name, nor has he related a single incident by which they could be identified. Is it possible that when he went over the list, he found the lobby made up principally of the men who are alleged to have spent sixty-five thousand dollars to elect Bradley to the United States Senate, and that this is the cause of his silence?

Judge J. A. Sullivan, of Richmond is doing valiant work for the Democracy on the stump. He is the author of the Sullivan school law which has given such impetus to education all over the State. Judge Sullivan is one of Governor McCreary's closest personal friends, and it is a labor of love for him to canvass the State in the interest of his neighbor and friend.

Judge O'Rear whispers to the farmers that he knows a way to get them twelve cents for their tobacco, and he has known the secret for several years. He has not told them why he did not take Governor Willson and Attorney General Breathitt into his confidence, and render this inestimable service to the tobacco growers. It would have put millions of dollars into the pockets of this oppressed class of our citizens, and it would have been a great Campaign card for O'Rear. A single performance of that kind would be worth a ten acre lot full of the promise that he is now making, if they will only elect him Governor.

One of the very first bills to be offered in the Legislature will be a direct primary bill. Several measures have already been prepared by Democratic Senators and Representatives, and the best of them will be chosen and enacted into law. Judge O'Rear can promise a primary law, but the Democrats have the votes, and they will give the people of the State what they want and the best that Judge O'Rear can do will be to sit on the Court of Appeals bench and pass on its legality.

There is no getting around the fact that nineteen of the thirty-eight members that compose the Senate are Democrats, and that that body will be controlled by the Democrats for the next two years. No bill can become a law without their votes, and every one of these holdover Senators, and those to be chosen, are pledged to carry out the reforms promised by the Democratic platform. People who want the State to go forward, will support the Democratic ticket, because they can carry on their promises, whereas the Republicans will have no opportunity to do any one of the many things they are advocating.

LANCLEY'S BLUFF CALLED.

Chairman Vansant invites Him to Look at the Books.

Rufus H. Vansant, chairman of the Democratic State Campaign Committee, in a statement issued late last night, accepted the challenge of John W. Langley, chairman of the Republican State Campaign Committee, to throw the light of publicity on all books and records of contributions and expenditures before the campaign. In his letter of acceptance Chairman Vansant says that the Democratic committee has not accepted any contribution from either the whisky or tobacco trust to help finance the campaign in behalf of Senator James B. McCreary and the other Democratic candidates, and that no effort has been made to purchase any newspaper in Kentucky to help conduct the fight in behalf of the party.

He says that the service of expert accountants suggested by Mr. Langley will be unnecessary, and invites Mr. Langley himself to come to the Democratic headquarters and look over the books.

His statement in full is as follows:

"Mr. John W. Langley, chairman of the Republican Campaign Committee, has addressed a card to the people of Kentucky in which he challenges the chairman of the Democratic State Campaign Committee to submit all books, papers and records to two expert, disinterested public accountants, who shall examine all the receipts and expenditures of the campaign fund and that said accountants shall certify the names of each contributor and the amount secured by them, and further, that the chairman of each Campaign Committee, Republican and Democratic, shall swear to the correctness of the records furnished them.

"I accept Mr. Langley's challenge and invitation. It will not be necessary for him or me to select an expert accountant to perform the service suggested. I hereby invite him to personally come to the Democratic headquarters, and pledge myself that all books, records and papers showing contributions made to the campaign fund and disbursements of the same, shall be placed at his disposal. He can take as much time for the investigation as he can spare from his exacting duties, and when he completes the work he can report to the public the result of his investigation, and I will not require him to swear to its correctness.

"So far as contributions made to the Republican campaign fund are concerned, I have no interest in them. I do not care to select an expert accountant to go over Mr. Langley's books, nor do I wish to examine them myself, nor will I make any personal or other inquiry into the financial conduct of his campaign. I do not care if his campaign fund is $100,000 or five times that amount. No sums that he can raise from contributions of Federal officeholders, or through the importunities of his friends, McCulloch, president of the Kentucky Distillers' Association, can defeat Gov. McCreary, and the Democratic ticket, for it is going to be elected by the votes of unpurchaseable citizens, and this does not include the 70,000 votes which his candidate, Judge O'Rear, says are for sale in old Kentucky.

"I want to say for the further enlightenment of Mr. Langley that neither myself, nor any member of the Campaign Committee, nor any candidate for office, nor any other person, for himself, or in our behalf, has not accepted, and none will accept one dollar from the Whisky Trust, the Tobacco Trust, or any other corporation or interest, to espouse our cause.

"I want to say to the people of Kentucky that I have endeavored to conduct a clean, honorable fight, to the end that Democracy might succeed, and the State be redeemed from Republican misrule. I have been fair to every candidate; have made no attack upon private character; have countenanced no personal abuse, and have appealed only to the intelligence and conscience of the voters. I have no apologies to offer for my course, I have done my duty for the people and the party and the white light of investigation has no terrors for me.

R. H. VANSANT, Chairman.

While Judge O'Rear is harping on the evils of riding on railroad passes, his family continues to ride on them, and Judge O'Rear dares not deny that this is true. If you will ask certain railroads to furnish copies of the passes issued to his family during his term as Judge of the Court of Appeals, the response will prove his insincerity, and startle the people of the State, some of whom believe that he means what he says.

Mr. Green is an ideal man for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. His long service in that office has made him proficient in that important work. The people of this State have not found Bob Green courteous and accommodating, and irrespective of party they wish him well. Mr. Green is not a public speaker, but he is doing splendid work for the ticket among his wide acquaintance, and his personal popularity will bring many votes to the cause.

"The corrupt lobby" which O'Rear assails, is the identical lobby that secured four bolting Democrats to vote for W. O. Bradley and elect him to the United States Senate. The beneficiary of this fraud upon the people is morally as guilty as the corruptionists that perpetrated it, and yet, Judge O'Rear proclaims Bradley the "greatest living Kentuckian," and assures the Temperance people whose bitter enemy Bradley has always been, that his title as Senator is "without flaw or stain."

As a sample of the extreme and utterly false statements being handed out to the voters by Republican newspapers in this campaign we quote the following paragraph from the Pikeville Herald:

"The Democratic party stands indicted for having tried twice to destroy the good old flag; for the lude-derivable horrors of Andersonville and Libby prisons, where half a million soldiers died of starvation, their vitals eaten out by vermin, and to whom it have been merciful to have been torn limb from limb."

Let's analyze this statement just to see how big a lie it is. In the first place the Democratic party was not in charge of these prisons. If the Herald will ask any school child it will learn that the war was between the North and South—the Federals and Confederates. Also, incidentally, that there was no Republican party at that time, and that the "good old flag" doesn't belong to the Republican party today, either.

Now, as to the half million soldiers starved to death in those two prisons. A brief calculation shows that if those prisons had been kept packed with soldiers from 1861 to the present day, a period of 50 years, hauling the dead ones out and replacing them with live ones as fast as the deaths occurred, the half-million mark would not yet have been reached. This is allowing 40 days for each man to live, and giving the vermin no time to do the horrible work described. Dr. Tanner fasted forty days and lived more than twenty years afterward. If we allow 50 days for starvation, the two prisons will not have completed that half-million job for 26 years yet. Evidently, the Herald doesn't yet know the war is over.

When the Republicans say complimentary things about the school laws of Kentucky and the high salaries paid to teachers they are complimenting the Democratic party, because every law that makes this condition was passed by a Democratic Legislature. The Republican officials not only have no part in the honor, but they have not given the teachers as good treatment as they are entitled to under these laws. The money due them last February was not paid until June, notwithstanding the fact that the school money is a fund set apart solely and sacredly for this purpose. It is a violation of the law to use the school fund for other purposes. Yet they used the money to pay salaries of State officers and compelled the teachers to wait until June. Also, the Republican administration has failed to pay the teachers promptly oftener than it has paid them on the days fixed by law. The checks do not reach the Superintendents on time very often, except just before a State election. Under Democratic administrations the teachers are always paid on time.

O'Rear is drawing his large salary as Judge of the Court of Appeals and giving the State absolutely nothing in return. He has not done a day's work for the State since the adjournment of the spring term of the Appellate Court. Does that look like he would make an unselfish, non-grafting Governor? Talk about sincerity, and purity and patriotism! If that isn't enough to brand him as possessing neither we should like to know how much proof any voter would ask. It's a job with a good salary that O'Rear is after—nothing else. He already has such a job and he is selfish and grasping enough to hold onto it till he is sure he has a better one, or knows he has lost out in the attempt. Is he afraid he can't make a living if he gives up the Appellate Court salary and fails to win for Governor? It would be cheaper for the people of Kentucky to support him by passing the hat than by giving him the salary and opportunities of the Governor's office.

The Mt. Sterling Advocate says: "Judge O'Rear, the announced foe of corruption and graft, the apostle of purity and the sponsor for honesty, especially in officials, admits he has not rendered any service as a Judge of the Court of Appeals since about March 1st, last, and will not do so until after the election, a period of more than eight months, yet he continues to receive his monthly salary checks, drawn on the State Treasury, in the face of a plain law to the contrary, with which he, as a capable lawyer, is familiar."

Governor McCreary is closing the most remarkable campaign in his long public career. He has not given his Republican opponent a moment's rest, but has mercilessly arraigned him and his party until they have been on the defensive from the very beginning. Governor McCreary will end his contest in full mental and bodily vigor, and will give the State such a progressive administration that the Democracy will not be out of power again in twenty years.

Dr. J. H. Wade, candidate for the Legislature, is as fine a gentleman as you can find anywhere—sober, discreet, honest, and he can be depended upon to do the right thing at all times and upon all questions. He did not seek the nomination. It sought him and he reluctantly consented to make the race.

If there is a vacancy in the United States Senate, the Governor will fill it. Do you want a friend of the people to be chosen, or a servant to the trusts? A vote for O'Rear means a vote for a high tariff, and for the re-election of Taft.

Urey Woodson, of the Owensboro Messenger, yesterday wired Chairman Langley, of the Republican State Campaign Committee, challenging him to get J. W. McCulloch, wealthy distiller, to join with him in a denial that Mr. McCulloch had made a contribution to the Republican campaign fund.

"The Insurgents say, 'Steal by the protective tariff, but do it moderately.' The Stand-patters say, 'Take it all.' Democracy raises the commandment which came from Sinai, 'Thou shalt not steal.'"

Up at Pikeville the O'Rear-Langley show graphophone was out of commission, made useless, so the manager explained "by the kick of a Democratic mule." Never again tell us that a mule has no sense.

Are you for Ollie James, the big, brilliant, popular statesman who is attracting national attention? Then vote for Dr. J. H. Wade for the Legislature. Remember, it is the Legislature that elects United States Senators.

Argus of the Louisville Herald says the election for Governor will be very close. Against this "dope" we put our prediction that the Democratic majority in the first four Congressional districts will be McCreary's majority in the State.

A vote under the rooster is a vote for Henry Bosworth, the friend of the mountain people, and their nominee. It was the heavy vote of this section that gave him the nomination for Auditor.

The administration at Frankfort has not yet paid the jurymen who served at the January term, 1910, of the Lawrence Circuit Court. The man who brought the claim still holds it.

"The Democratic hosts, in this battle, will not lose their Democratic standards, but they will follow the stainless crest of McCreary to victory," McDermott.

At this office

Judge O'Rear spoke to the voters in the heart of the Cumberland Mountains yesterday. He pleaded with them to elect him so that he could redistrict the State.

Judge O'Rear has a habit of playing upon the credulity of his audiences, and he followed the habit in trying, successfully in a degree, to make the Cumberland mountain people believe that he, alone, could redistrict Kentucky. It is easy to imagine what a "good" redistricting bill O'Rear would make if he had the power. And he openly avows that if—Ah, woeful "if"!—if he is elected he will hold the legislature in continuous session until "it" passes one. But the Judge hardly knows where he's at.

Some people want to know about Mr. McCreary's personal life. We can say upon the assurance of those who have lived in his town that he is a high class Christian gentleman, an official in his church, a clean, upright man. He has withstood the temptations of high public positions. He never takes a drink of liquor, which is more than a lot of fellows can say who are running on prohibition platforms.

Judge O'Rear is nothing more nor less than a professional politician. In his own party he is rated as one of their shrewdest politicians—which is not altogether complimentary. The chief business of the professional politician is to fool the people, deal with both sides of almost every proposition, and to get votes in any way possible.

THE BUYING POWER OF $1.75.

A little money sometimes buys a good deal. For instance, take the subscription price of The Youth's Companion for a year $1.75. If all the good reading in the good reading in the 52 weekly issues of the paper were published in book form, according to its kind, it would make about thirty volumes of fiction, science, essays by famous writers, household management and economics, sports and pastimes for boys, natural history, anecdotes, humor, etc. The serial stories alone would fill several volumes. Among these is Ralph Palmer's great story of the Boxer Rebellion in China, "The Cross and the Dragon." Another is by J. W. Schultz, who was adopted by the Blackfeet when a boy. It is called "The Quest for the Fish-Dog Skin." Another is a glorious girls' story by C. A. Stephens, called "Julia Sylvester." It is the story of a "Mercer" girl in the pioneer days of Oregon and Washington—and that is only part of the serials.

It will cost you nothing to send for the beautiful Announcement of The Companion for 1912, and we will send with it sample copies of the paper.

Do not forget that the new subscriber for 1912 receives a gift of The Companion's Calendar for 1912, lithographed in ten colors and gold, and all the issues for the remaining weeks of 1911 free from the time the subscription is received.

Only 1.75 now, but on January 1, 1912, the price will be advanced to $2.00. Address THE YOUTH'S

STORY OF A BASHFUL MAN AND A DEMURE MAIDEN

That Begins Back East and Ends Here—Generous Uncle Bill Gives Timely Advice to His Newly Married Niece.

In a remote hamlet back east lived a demure maiden and a bashful man, who had for some years been living with but one and the same object before them. Both were hopeless victims of "love microbes," that were doing the most effectual work under the direction of Cupid himself.

Finally Harry suddenly woke up one day and decided that procrastination was the thief of time and bliss—and he immediately set about to bring matters to a focus. Very soon there was a wedding, and it wasn't much longer before their uncle Bill Taylor of Louisa wrote effusively of what he termed "gilt" and proposed that if they would locate here, he would start them up in life. Very soon they began to bid loved ones adieu and were soon speeding in this direction.

When the train pulled in, generous Uncle Bill was at the depot to greet them and welcome a much elated couple, and after hearty congratulations, he conducted them straightway to the Hotel Brunswick. It was at breakfast the next morning while partaking of a sumptuous menu that was being politely served, that Uncle Bill first unfolded his plans to the appreciative newcomers abiding himself, first of all to build and furnish for them a modern home. "But in the meantime," he said, "you will find this hotel a pleasant and most agreeable place to live, since it is widely known as our best appointed and most successfully managed hotel, and a favorite with the 'Knights of the Strip' under the good management of Mr. E. C. McClure, who personally looks after the welfare of those under its roof."

"Now, I am at sea," said Uncle Bill. It beats all how houses are built these days, considering the way they built them fifty years ago. Why, the modern houses of today have conveniences and comforts that none of my time never dreamed of. But I know who can help us out of this dilemma," said he, suddenly remembering Mr. Augustus Snyder as a man of original ideas and good taste and as being actively associated with the building interests here. Mr. Snyder very soon had this plan ready for a pretentious $4000 residence for the bride. It is a renaissance of Corinthian effect, symmetrical in appearance and commodious to a degree in its interior arrangement, and is just what the bride had longed for. The construction of which will at once be begun by him.

"Good lumber and good material so hard in hand with good workmanship when it comes to building a good house. Now about the lumber, millwork and sundry requisites coming under this heading, Augustus Snyder is our live and best exponent of lumber and building material here. He built the house and gave them a turnkey job."

Well it is up to me to furnish your new residence, remarked Uncle Bill, and it shall be furnished in just as good taste and as completely as your good judgment and taste will permit or dictate. "How grand," she exclaimed beaming with joy and expectancy. Uncle Bill then bade the young couple come with him to Snyder Hardware Co., the busy dealers of furniture, hardware and well informed house furnishers, where he handled everything that is smart, useful and dainty, needed to fit out the cottages or mansion on whatever scale desired. The trio were politely received at the big store where Uncle Bill soon selected some exquisite furniture for her parlor, her living room and bedrooms as well as dining room and kitchen furniture, silverware, also tapestries, carpets, rugs, paintings, etc. Her purchases, in fact, included all essential requisites. Hence the progressive Snyder Hardware Co. got the order to bottom.

Yes, I did premise you a nice watch and silver service, quoth Uncle Bill to the bride, as they were emerging from the furniture store. Then he directed them to Conroy's Store where he soon acquitted himself of the obligation, adding to the above a handsome clock and some exquisite articles of cut glass ware and Haviland China. Little envisioned real pleasure and delight at the thought of so many useful, dainty and essential articles for her new home. This jewelry house remarked Uncle Bill, as they again entered the street, always shows artistic and seasonable and has the distinction, with its wide acquaintance, of being reliable and well appreciated.

jewelry establishment. They never hold out false lights to make a sale either, and Mr. Rollings will engrave your monogram on the watch free of charge. He is an expert repairer and engraver. "There is just one thing that is indispensable to furnishing any new home complete," modestly suggested Hettie. "What's that?" asked Uncle Bill promptly, who thought he had gotten everything. "A sewing machine, a Singer," said Hettie. Yes, that's a fact, but we'll fix that very soon with Mr. A. M. Wheeler, the alert and wide awake city and district manager for the Singer Company here and he is an agreeable and reliable fellow to deal with too. Hear the Singer machine is used in over seventy-five per cent of the homes of the civilized world. It is a favorite with all intelligent housewives because of its simplicity and beauty and marvelous accomplishments in either plain or fancy sewing.

"Well the next question on the docket," ventured Uncle Bill to Hettie, "is to arrange about supplies for the larder. It is the housewife's sequel to maintaining the good graces of the men folks. Now for select table groceries and provisions and toothsome table delicacies and imported fruits and vegetables of every kind. I'll escort you to D. C. Spencer conducting a well appointed and completely stocked fancy grocery, where there is always shown a varied assortment of the most tempting good things to eat in town. His patrons come from every nook and corner hereabouts, and presumably for a reason. Perhaps it is because they appreciate the superior and correct ways that characterize the business dealings of D. C. Spencer our wide awake and well-versed grocer and purveyor to the larder, where there is a large and varied stock from which to select, at all times, said Uncle Bill.

"Well, I've named the grocer," said Uncle Bill, but equally important is the baker, for it is considered that bread is the stuff of life, and it is not only a daily need but a luxury. If you get your bread cakes and pastries from J. B. Porter, manager of the Louisa Bakery. The many varieties of bread turned out at this bakery are ever wholesome, nutritious and deliciously sweet and eatable, and when you want cakes, pies or pastries that are delicate and dainty The Louisa Bakery can supply your wants promptly from the bakery or delivery wagons, products that are skillfully mixed and baked in a scrupulously clean and hygienic bakery. A line of eatables that original in taste, flavor and goodness, the secret of the success and popularity of this bakery whose aim has ever been to merit the confidence of the people.

"Next, I want you to recommend a good market," said Hettie to Uncle Bill. "One that I can depend upon all the time." "Well, for good meats, honest weights, and a nice all around place to trade," advised Uncle Bill smiling good naturedly. It's G. S. Wilson and Son's market and grocery you want to trade with. There you will find every day in the week the choicest and best fresh, cured meats that money, experience and vigilant effort can obtain. The best and fattest cattle, veals and lambs are bought on the hoof and are carefully slaughtered and dressed by skilled help with a view to meeting in every particular, the demands of the long list of exacting patrons G. S. Wilson and Son are equipped with ample cold storage facilities and maintain good delivery service. And considering all in all the basis upon which this market is catering to the public, it is admirable in every way, and fully merits the run of business accorded it, and the good name that so many give it," said Uncle Bill assuringly.

"Oh, yes, Uncle Bill you were to take us for a drive," said Hettie. "Yes, yes, so I was I will keep my promise, too," said Uncle Bill. Just then a pair of spirited steeds drawing a substantial and attractive trap, with fine trappings apparent, drew up in front of the home. "This rig came from Queen Bros. livery, our best equipped stables here," continued Uncle Bill. "It is truly a commodious and well ordered livery, sulo and feed stable in every particular where are kept good vehicles for all uses, and good horses too, including some 'high steppers' let out at a reasonable price and it is this kind of business effort that has brought this popular barn under management of Queen Bros. into good standing with public, and made it deserving of good will and patronage of which it is the recipient, added Uncle Bill.

By this way, said Uncle Bill, what evident seriousness, since we have spent all this money in building and furnishing a new house, it would be a grave oversight for us to delay the matter of insurance. I think we had better go ance. I think we had better go to see F. T. D. Wallace, Jr., who will relieve us of all apprehension and suspense, who represents many of the best and staunchest fire, health and accident companies in the world, from which we may choose F. T. D. Wallace, Jr., the alert and wide awake underwriter, who yearly writes a large volume of business in the respective branches of insurance from which we may judge that every policy holder has been dealt with in a fair and liberal way in the adjustment of all honest claims."

Before the trio left the office Mr. Wallace wrote a policy covering the new house, as well as a policy for $3,000 on Harry's life in the Mutual Life Ins. Co. of New York.

By and by, remarked Uncle Bill as they reached the street, I must go over to the First National Bank and get another check book; come along with me and meet the cashier and the president as this is a good bank for you to open an account with, and it is proper for you to be introduced by some one well known to the bank. I mention the First National Bank because the management is agreeable to do business with and will extend to you at any time any courtesy compatible with sound banking rules. The bank has ample resources aggregating $300,000.00 and does a general banking business in the truest sense of the term rendering to the trade and to commercial interests as well as to its individual clientele, a most satisfactory banking service in every way. It stood the panic of '93 and is the oldest bank in town.

Hettie next asked Uncle Bill where the best millinery and ladies ready to wear store was. "You just mentioned it in that," rejoined Uncle Bill, "for this is the principal one right here," pointing to the millinery of Miss Jean McClure. "It is an inviting and pleasantly appointed millinery parlor and ladies ready to wear good store, where same new effects and latest creations appear simultaneously with Paris and metropolitan cities so zealously, does the accomplished milliner in charge guard the interests of their clientele. The large, varied and attractive lines of millinery were so tasty dainty and reasonable that Hettie soon succumbed to a nebbly and exquisite hat. "Where is a good drug store?" asked the bride. "I must have some tooth powder and some cosmetics."

Right here, replied Uncle Bill. Just then the trio happened in front of A. M. Hughes' Pharmacy. This is a well appointed and accessible reliable drug store, and it is conducted along progressive lines, too," he said. "I get my prescriptions filled here, because I know the prescription case is in charge of a painstaking and efficient pharmacist who is ever prompt and accurate to all alike. A. M. Hughes' Pharmacy is always replete with a large and varied stock of drugs, medicines, chemicals and the manifold accessories to this branch, including fine box candles, in fact everything that is needed to meet the demands of the people. The house enjoys the confidence and esteem of a large acquaintance and it's here you will want to deal," said Uncle Bill.

"Next we will go to Luther's studio, and sit for pictures," suggested Uncle Bill, "for nothing recalls reminiscences of the honey moon in after years so vividly as a good photograph, and one taken at Luther's gallery will be a real likeness of you. He is not a 'camera snapper,' but a portrait photographer; as the specimens on exhibition at the pleasantly arranged gallery and reception room attest and that all photographers are alike, capable of achieving the same results, is no more true than pen, ink and paper make the same author," said Uncle Bill. This Luther aside from an ample and thoroughly equipped establishment, not only possesses the art of posing but also understands the worth of perception as well, while distinguishes him as a portrait artist, and makes for this gallery more than a local name." A feature that is individually Luther's said Uncle Bill. He can make any size photo from the same negative.

"Next, I must have some table and bed linens and portiers, rugs, wall paper, etc.," rejoined Hettie. "That's a fact," rejoined Uncle Bill apologetically. I suspect you will want to replenish your wardrobe too, and your introduction to our town won't be complete until you have visited our best ordered and most popular dry goods establishment. "This is it now," said he, leading the way into W. D. Pierce's who handles everything for everybody in Millinery, Ladies Tailored Suits, Coats and Skirts, everything to wear namely, dry goods shoes clothing and furnishings as the salient lines. Here they found the store filled with purchasers and among whom were some handsomely attired ladies. Hettie had no difficulty in finding just exactly what she wanted here. She said the lines in each of the respective departments were so varied and the slightest effects, as well as the most staple goods. "And it is most satisfactory and a real pleasure to trade with W. D. Pierce," said Hettie as she left. They treat you nice and the prices are so reasonable, too.

"I see you make some pretensions to dress well yourself," said Uncle Bill to Harry; "New for smart clothing and men's furnishings goods, I'll introduce you to W. L. Ferguson & Co., where I trade. It's a most reliable clothing and men's furnishing goods house, and it has the confidence of an enviable share of the discriminating class of trade too, men who know and appreciate good goods and correct patterns and fair dealing. The presentable and well stocked premises at once mirrors the business tact of W. L. Ferguson & Co., and bespeaks the volume of business that is tendered that establishment by men who know good values in correct dress. The house enjoys the confidence of a large acquaintance and it is where particular dressers will always want to deal," after they once got started there, concluded Uncle Bill.

The Charge of Insincerity Worries O'Rear.

Judge O'Rear is writhing under the charge of insincerity which has been made in every section of the State, and which has been confined by every word he has uttered since his nomination. He claims that Henry Watterson, Editor of the Courier-Journal, first gave currency to the accusation that he lacked sincerity. Whoever first called public attention to the Judge's moral delinquency in this respect, only put into words the thought that has been waiting for expression in the minds of thousands of these who have heard and read Judge O'Rear's speeches.

The indictment that can be drawn against the Republican nominee on this score cannot be denigrated out of the Court of public opinion. Beginning with the pledges that he made to the people before his nomination, he has violated so many that it is difficult to enumerate them.

He claimed to be the foe of the "corrupt lobby" and was waiting eagerly for the time when he could put his members into uniform and drive them to the state's end from the halls of legislation at Frankfort. In the face of this, he put the crown of approval upon Bradley, who was elected to the United States Senate by this identical "corrupt lobby," that he now promises to destroy.

He claims to be the one true friend of temperance; that the money of the Whiskey Trust has debauched the State; purchased weak Legislators and prevented the extension of the County Unit. At the first opportunity, he appoints the President of one of the biggest Whiskey concerns of the State, Chairman of his Finance Committee, personally applauding him for the collections he had made, and urging him to keep on with the good work. When he was caught red-handed in the company of this distiller, he dramatically served notice on him in a public speech that he must not accept money from his fellow whiskey men, but forgot to inform him that the amount contributed by himself must be returned.

Although before the Republican State Convention he announced that he favored the initiative and referendum, when the Republican platform was announced, there was no reference to these progressive policies.

Judge O'Rear promised the women of the State that he was in favor of woman's suffrage, and although he personally dictated the Republican platform, he could find no place in it for a plank approving woman's suffrage.

His platform heartily endorsed President Taft and all his policies, but when he was called to account for approving the vetoes of the President, he passed it off by saying that the platform endorsement was a meaningless bouquet.

His platform approves every act of Governor Wilton's extravagant, inefficient administration, but when the burden of it was transferred to O'Rear's shoulders, he stood from under it with the declaration that that plank was a mere pleasantry, and must not be taken seriously.

So it will be seen that Judge O'Rear only makes promises to break them. He is not true to himself, or to what few convictions he has on public questions. Wherever he happens to be, he takes the color of his surroundings, and supports any fad, folly or policy that promises to gain him a few votes.

Starting out a pure Judge clothed in ermine from head to toe, unsullied and unspotted, he has in a few short weeks been transformed into a time-serving politician whose insincerity is stamped upon his countenance, and colors every word that he utters.

Cochran Oil Co.

Reuben Fork Oil Co.

OFFICE—TORCHLIGHT, KY. BRANCH OFFICE, LOUISA, KY.

The above companies are both incorporated for $6,000 each divided into 600 shares at $10 each.

REUBEN FORK OIL CO. consists of Floyd McCown and Jack Adkins farms situated on the head of Reuben Fork of Lick Creek and contains 300 acres. 1st well will be located on McCown farm.

COCHRAN OIL CO. consists of the following tracts or farms: G. C. See, W. R. Childers, James Miller and H. C. Cochran. Bounded on South by Reuben and on the West by Lick Creek and this well will be located less than one mile south of Lick Creek well.

These two wells will be promoted on same general plans as we promoted the Square Deal Oil Co., the promoters retaining $500 in stock and 1-8 part of the oil so you see if we are not successful we get nothing for our leases or labor. Who could ask for a fairer proposition? The price now asked for rentals are so high that hereafter a proposition of this kind could not be promoted on these terms.

Enough stock has already been subscribed in both of these wells to make them an assured fact and we expect to start our derricks within a week or ten days and rush same to completion.

There is oil on the West, North and East sides of these tracts. What more could you ask and what other company can give you such inducements? Get your name on our subscription list before it is too late.

DO NOT DELAY! Act promptly and do not overlook the fact that $25.00 shares in Busseyville Oil Co. were selling from $100 to $150 each on and after the day this well was shot. Both of these propositions are far better risks than was the Busseyville well at the time it was promoted. We closed the Square Deal Co. out in about two weeks.

All unsold stock will be held as Treasury Stock.

A full report will be mailed to subscribers at short intervals stating what progress we have made, what results we have obtained and every transaction fully explained.

Our previous square dealing should convince you that your money will be well guarded and judiciously handled.

If you are not familiar with these locations we would be pleased to mail you our sketch or map of the Torchlight-Busseyville field.

Any of the officers of the company will be pleased to take your subscription.
